Short thought

“Store up treasure for themselves but are not rich towards God.” I used to love to collect things when I was a little girl, shells were one of my favourite, I loved to see their delicate beauty and individual shapes. I felt that I needed more and more to be satisfied, to be comforted by their presence. Today Jesus tells us that collecting things to make ourselves feel better isn't the long term plan that He has for us, our richness towards God and His will are the treasures we store deep in our hearts, our richness of love that we share with our neighbour is the only currency which is accepted in God's kingdom. As children we are told to share, and we must not forget this teaching as adults now, ample goods laid up for many years will not help us on the journey to eternal love, light, and life that awaits us through Jesus Christ our lord.
